Suggestions and Expectations

This curriculum unit can be used in a variety of ways. Each chapter of the novel study focuses on one chapter of Stone Fox and is comprised of five different activities:

1. Before You Read
2. Vocabulary Building
3. Comprehension Questions
4. Language Activities
5. Extension Activities

Links with the Common Core Standards (U.S.)

Many of the activities included in this curriculum unit are supported by the Common Core Standards. For instance the Reading Standards for Literature, Grade 5, makes reference to:

- a) determining the meaning of words and phrases. . . including figurative language;
- b) explaining how a series of chapters fits together to provide the overall structure;
- c) compare and contrast two characters;
- d) determine how characters . . . respond to challenges;
- e) drawing inferences from the text;
- f) determining a theme of a story . . . and many others.

A principal expectation of the unit is that students will develop their skills in reading, writing, listening and oral communication, as well as in reasoning and critical thinking. It is important, too, that students be encouraged to relate their own feelings and experiences in certain contexts, and describe their own interpretations of particular passages.

- Students can work on the activities at their own pace.
- Every activity need not be completed by all students.
- A portfolio cover is included (p.7) as well as a Checklist (p.6) to keep a record of completed work.

Themes which may be taught in conjunction with the novel include Wyoming, sled dogs, Samoyeds, the Shoshone people, depression, assuming responsibility, and believing in oneself.

Synopsis

There's just no stopping little Willy. Determined to keep their farm going — and to give his ailing grandfather a reason to live — the ten-year-old boy hitches his dog, Searchlight, to the plow and harvests the whole potato crop. Now little Willy needs five hundred dollars to pay off ten years' back taxes, or the farm will be taken away from them.

Dauntless as ever, he stakes everything on one wild hope: that he and Searchlight can outrun the best dogsled racers in the country — including the legendary Indian, Stone Fox. But the huge mountain man is every bit as intent on winning the big prize money as little Willy is. And he and his five beautiful Samoyeds haven't lost a race yet....

Author Biography

John Reynolds Gardiner

John Reynolds Gardiner was an American author and engineer. Born in Los Angeles, California, he earned his master's degree from UCLA. He was a successful engineer before working on his first children's book. Always creative, in his younger years he ran Num Num Novelties, home to such originals as the aquarium tie. He lived in West Germany and Central America, and taught writing workshops around the world. In Idaho he heard of a legend on which he based his first book, Stone Fox. Gardiner also edited children's stories for television. He lived out his final years with his wife, Gloria, in California and died of complications from pancreatitis at a hospital in Anaheim, California in 2006. He is survived by three daughters, Carrie, Alicia, and Danielle. [GoodReads]

Chapter 1

Before you read the chapter:

The protagonist in most novels features the main character or “good guy”. The protagonist of Stone Fox is a very likeable ten-year-old boy, Willy, who lives on a small farm in the state of Wyoming. Think back on some of your favorite characters from past novels you have read or movies you’ve seen. What do you think makes for an especially interesting protagonist, one you had a hard time forgetting?

Vocabulary:

Choose a word from the list to complete each sentence.

explanation	coop	wrinkles	harmonica
examination	rodeo	forehead	actually

1. Jeremy received an expensive _____ in his Christmas stocking.
2. Please take this bucket of feed out to the chicken _____.
3. Do you have a suitable _____ for why you missed the meeting?
4. The ball glanced off the catcher’s mitt and struck the umpire on the _____.
5. That breed of dog has so many _____, its eyes are almost invisible.
6. My cousin drives a chuck wagon in the local _____.
7. The veterinarian gave the kitten a thorough _____.
8. Do you think that your mother _____ believed the whopper you told her?

Questions

1. From what you read about Grandfather in the first few paragraphs of Chapter One, what impression do you get of his personality? Why?

2. Facts: The boy's name is _____. His dog is _____ years old and is called _____.

3. Why did the boy visit Doc Smith?

4. After asking Willy what time he and his grandfather went to bed the previous evening, what question does Doc Smith then ask the boy?

5. Why do you think the boy's answer convinced the doctor that something serious might be the matter?

6. Doc Smith's horse was a palomino. Using resources in your school library or on the Internet investigate this type of horse and report back on two interesting facts about the palomino.

7. Before telling Willy that there was nothing medically wrong with his grandfather she asks him two questions:

1.
2.

- b. Why do you think she asked these particular questions before making her decision?

8. What was wrong with Grandfather and what was Willy determined to do about it?

Language Activities

A. Wyoming

The setting for this novel is in the great state of Wyoming. Although it is the tenth largest state in the union, Wyoming has the fewest number of people.

Like most places in the world, many of the people of Wyoming rely on tourists to make a living. Fortunately this beautiful state has much to offer the vacationer and traveler.

Your task is to design a brochure to advertise this beautiful and fascinating place. Using resources in your school library or on the Internet to help you, create a brochure which will attract visitors to Wyoming. You may wish to check out a few samples of brochures to get some ideas. Your brochure should contain at least one colorful picture and a number of interesting, relevant facts which would be helpful to tourists planning this summer's vacation. Topics might include landmarks, plants and animals, major historical attractions, museums, entertainment, etc.

B. Alliteration

The author seems to enjoy using alliteration – a literary device where the author repeats the same sound at the beginning of several words. An example from Chapter One is “What’s wrong? Why won’t you tell me what’s wrong?”

Using your imagination, create your own examples of alliteration from the following topics. Each example must contain a minimum of three words.

The sound of rain on a roof
The roar of a tiger
From your imagination

C. Choose ten words from this chapter with two or more syllables. Indicate the syllables by drawing a line between each syllable. Example: good / bye.

D. Anagrams

An anagram is a word that is formed by changing the order of the letters of another word. For example, the letters in the word PAN can also form the word NAP. Follow these directions to form the anagrams:

- a) read the clue in the right-hand column.
- b) Using the word in the left-hand column move the letters around in any order, but you must use all the letters.

Each of the words in the left-hand column are found in this section of our novel.

Word	Anagram	Clue
agreed		A truck's transmission is _____.
paws		Trade.
post		Cease.
tears		Look fixedly.
clean		A short spear.
breath		Tub lover.
wore		One who is indebted to.

Extension Activity

Storyboard

A storyboard is a series of pictures that tell about an important event in a story. A storyboard can tell the story of only one scene – or the entire novel.

Complete the storyboard below illustrating the events described in the first chapter of Stone Fox. You may wish to practice your drawings on a separate piece of paper.
