Suggestions and Expectations

This curriculum unit can be used in a variety of ways. Each chapter of the novel study focuses on two chapters of A Long Walk to Water and is comprised of five of the following different activities:

- Before You Read
- Vocabulary Building
- Comprehension Questions
- Language Activities
- Extension Activities

Links with the Common Core Standards (U.S.)

Many of the activities included in this curriculum unit are supported by the Common Core Standards. For instance the Reading Standards for Literature, Grade 5, makes reference to:

- a) determining the meaning of words and phrases... including figurative language;
- b) explaining how a series of chapters fits together to provide the overall structure;
- c) compare and contrast two characters;
- d) determine how characters... respond to challenges;
- e) drawing inferences from the text;
- f) determining a theme of a story... and many others.

A principal expectation of the unit is that students will develop their skills in reading, writing, listening and oral communication, as well as in reasoning and critical thinking. Students will also be expected to provide clear answers to questions and well-constructed explanations. It is critical as well that students be able to relate events and the feelings of characters to their own lives and experiences and describe their own interpretation of a particular passage.

A strength of the unit is that students can work on the activities at their own pace. Every activity need not be completed by all students. A portfolio cover is included (p.7) so that students may organize their work and keep it all in one place. A Student Checklist is also included (p.6) so that a record of completed work may be recorded.

Themes which may be taught in conjunction with the novel include Sudan, perseverance, attaining one's goals, survival, ecology and the environment, home and security.

Synopsis

Nya goes to the pond to fetch water for her family. She walks eight hours every day.

Salva walks away from his war-torn village. He is a “lost boy” refugee, destined to cover Africa on foot, searching for his family and safety.

Two young people . . . two stories.

One country: Sudan.

This mesmerizing dual narrative follows two threads – one unfolding in 2008 and one in 1985 – with one hopeful message: that even in a troubled country, determined survivors may find the future they are hoping for. (The publisher)

Before you read the chapter:

The protagonist in most novels features the main character or “good guy”. A Long Walk to Water actually features dual protagonists, Nya a young Sudanese girl and Salva a young Sudanese boy caught in the middle of a tragic civil war. Think back on some of your favorite characters from past novels you have read or movies you’ve seen. What do you think makes for an especially fascinating protagonist? Who was your favorite protagonist of all time?

Language Activity

A. Anagrams

An anagram is a word that is formed by changing the order of the letters of another word. For example, the letters in the word WAS can also form the word SAW. Follow these directions to form the anagrams:

- a) read the clue in the right-hand column.
- b) Using the word in the left-hand column move the letters around in any order, but you must use all the letters.

C. A simile is a comparison using the words “like” or “as”. An example from Chapter Two is “... a jet plane veered away like a sleek evil bird.” What two things are being compared in this example?

Invent your own similes comparing the following items with something from your own imagination:

a) the crash of thunder

b) Niagara Falls

Look for a simile in the remaining chapters of the novel. If you find one return to this question and record it below.
Henry Rollins once said that South Sudan is one of the most hard-put places in the world. Yet this north African country is a beautiful nation with a long and rich history dating back thousands of years. Its name is Arabic for “the land of the Blacks”. Until 2011 (when South Sudan became an independent country) Sudan was the largest country in Africa. But most people do not know a great deal about Sudan (or South Sudan). In each of the columns below add helpful details which would assist someone who is researching this part of world.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>What I Know</th>
<th>What I Want To Learn</th>
<th>Possible Sources</th>
</tr>
</thead>

Good to Know

Salva is a member of the Dinka people. They are the largest ethnic tribe in the southern Sudan, numbering about 4.5 million people. They refer to themselves as Muonyjang (or Necked people). Dinka are sometimes noted for their height and are among the tallest people in Africa. The Dinkas are a pastoral people and rely on cattle herding and growing millet for their living.
A. Storyboard

A storyboard is a series of pictures that tell about an important event in a story. A storyboard can tell the story of only one scene – or the entire novel. Complete the storyboard below illustrating the events described in this section of A Long Walk to Water. You may wish to practice your drawings on a separate piece of paper.
B. Poems About the Desert

Much of Sudan and South Sudan is comprised of the mighty Sahara Desert – the world's largest and most forbidding wasteland. Many poems have been written about deserts. For instance, the famous poet, Lord Byron once wrote:

Oh that the desert were my dwelling place,
That I might forget the human race,
And hating no one, love her only.

Here is the beginning of another poem about deserts:

D is for desert!
D is for dry!
Don’t wait for the rain,
To fall from the sky...    (From Mr. R.’s World of Math and Science website)

There are many forms of poetry available to the aspiring poet other than the rhyming poem for which the above poets were so adept at creating. An ACROSTIC poem is one example. In an acrostic poem the first letters of each line are aligned vertically to form a word. The word often is the subject of the poem. Here is an example:

The Moth

Multicolored.
Often mistaken for a butterfly
Tickled my nose when it landed on me
Hops from flower to flower on the breeze.

The Acrostic Poem

Now create your own Acrostic Poem on the subject of the desert. Your poem must have at least six lines (and doesn't need to rhyme).
