A website you may wish to check out with some interesting reviews and discussions of the novel is goodreads ~ http://www.goodreads.com/book/show/967511.Rascal

Sterling North was born into a family of poets on the second floor of a farmhouse on the shores of Lake Koshkonong, a few miles from Edgerton, Wisconsin, in 1906. First published at the age of eight, he went on to have a successful career as a journalist and editor of several well-respected newspapers. Sterling North won a host of literary awards during his lifetime, including a Newbery Honor for the autobiographical Rascal. As is mentioned in Rascal, Sterling survived a near-fatal bout with polio when he was in his teens. He died in Morristown, New Jersey in 1974 at the age of 68. [Adapted from The Publisher]

Chapter 1
May

Before you read the chapter:

The protagonist in most novels features the main character or “good guy”. The protagonist of Rascal is the author, Sterling North, for this novel is actually the story of the author’s boyhood. Think back on some of your favorite characters from past novels you have read or movies you’ve seen. What do you think makes for an especially interesting protagonist?

Test Your Math

a) If the story is set in the year 1918 and Sterling is eleven years old, what year was Sterling probably born? __________

b) Later in the novel Sterling states that his mother was only 47 when she died. Check the year that she died in Chapter One. In what year was his mother probably born? __________
4. Write a brief description of the odd relationship that Sterling had with his dad. Do you think Mr. Sterling (as a parent) should have been investigated by the local Children’s Aid Society? Why or why not?

5. Describe the strategy used by Sterling and Oscar to get the raccoon down from the tree.

6. Why did they need the mother raccoon?

7. Why did Oscar let Sterling keep the one baby raccoon that they captured?

8. Sterling’s mother died in the year _____________. Sterling’s brother, ____________, was fighting in the army in France.

9. As the first chapter comes to an end, what unusual fact do we learn about the relationship between Oscar’s parents?
A. The Raccoon

Not too many novels feature a raccoon as one of the main characters. Other than being regarded as a nuisance by many people, what do you know about this fascinating animal?

Two of the raccoon's most famous features are his extremely nimble front paws, and its bandit-like mask. Did you know, however, that they are very intelligent creatures, being able to remember tasks for up to three years?

Using resources in your school library or on the Internet investigate the raccoon. Your investigation should uncover at least three facts about this animal and include an appropriate picture.
B. Choose ten words from these chapters with two or more syllables. Indicate the syllables by drawing a line between each syllable. Example: good / bye.

C. Personification is giving human qualities to something that is not human. In Chapter One the author writes, The tasseled limb of the white oak sighed at last … In this sentence the oak is given human characteristics (it sighs).

a) Why do you think personification is a literary device used by many authors?

b) Create your own example of personification.
Extension Activity

Storyboard

A storyboard is a series of pictures that tell about an important event in a story. A storyboard can tell the story of only one scene – or the entire novel.

Complete the storyboard below illustrating the events described in the first chapter of Rascal. You may wish to practice your drawings on a separate piece of paper.
