Suggestions and Expectations

This curriculum unit can be used in a variety of ways. Each chapter of the novel study focuses on one chapter of The Slave Dancer and is comprised of five of the following different activities:

- Before You Read
- Vocabulary Building
- Comprehension Questions
- Language Activities
- Extension Activities

Links with the Common Core Standards (U.S.)

Many of the activities included in this curriculum unit are supported by the Common Core Standards. For instance the Reading Standards for Literature, Grade 5, makes reference to:

a) determining the meaning of words and phrases, including figurative language;
b) explaining how a series of chapters fits together to provide the overall structure;
c) compare and contrast two characters;
d) determine how characters respond to challenges;
e) drawing inferences from the text;
f) determining a theme of a story and many others.

A principal expectation of the unit is that students will develop their skills in reading, writing, listening and oral communication, as well as in reasoning and critical thinking. Students will also be expected to provide clear answers to questions and well-constructed explanations. It is critical as well that students be able to relate events and the feelings of characters to their own lives and experiences and describe their own interpretation of a particular passage.

A strength of the unit is that students can work on the activities at their own pace. Every activity need not be completed by all students. A portfolio cover is included (p.7) so that students may organize their work and keep it all in one place. A Student Checklist is also included (p.6) so that a record of completed work may be recorded.

Themes which may be taught in conjunction with the novel include evils of the slave trade, racism, imprisonment and escape, greed, survival, courage and perseverance.

Synopsis

One day, thirteen-year old Jessie Bollier is earning pennies playing his fife on the docks of New Orleans; the next, he is kidnapped and thrown aboard a slave ship, where his job is to provide music while shackled slaves “dance” to keep their muscles strong and their bodies profitable. As the endless voyage continues, Jessie grows increasingly sickened by the greed, brutality, and inhumanity of the slave trade, but nothing prepares him for the ultimate horror he will witness before his nightmare ends - a horror that will change his life forever. (The Publisher)

* “Spellbinding . . . will horrify as well as fascinate.” ~ School Library Journal.

* “Movingly and realistically presents one of the most gruesome chapters of history.” - Booklist.

Author Biography
Paula Fox

Paula Fox was born in New York City on April 22, 1923. Rejected by her mother at birth, Paula was left in a foundling home. Her maternal grandmother rescued her and gave the infant to Reverend Elwood Corning and his bedridden mother in Balmville, New York. The Reverend treated Paula kindly and taught her important lessons. Fox later attended Columbia University and married Richard Sigerson, by whom she had 2 sons. She later married literary critic and translator Martin Greenberg, and worked for years as a teacher and tutor for troubled children. Only in her 40s did she begin her first novel, Poor George. The novel was received well but sold poorly, a pattern that all her adult novels would follow. She has also won several awards including the 1974 Newbery Medal for her novel, The Slave Dancer. She now lives in Brooklyn.

The Slave Dancer

By Paula Fox

Name:
Chapter 1 – The Errand

Before you read the chapter:

Whenever I hear anyone arguing for slavery, I feel a strong impulse to see it tried on him personally. (Abraham Lincoln)

It is hard to believe today that only a few short generations ago, slavery was an accepted by many Americans. From what you know of slavery, what do you think would be the two worst things about this practice? (You may wish to brainstorm possible answers with a colleague.)

1. Everyone knew that a trip to Africa during the Monsoons would be most ____________.

2. After a half bottle of rum, the first mate was quite ____________.

3. When dressed in the clown's outfit the mayor appeared very ____________.

4. John was able to ____________ such a torrid pace for only half the race.
5. The designs of horses were no larger than thimbles and had birds and butterflies circling their ____________ heads.

6. “That was a most ____________ thing to do, Rachel,” her aunt admonished. “Especially when your sister was feeling so poorly.”

7. The rich, ____________ fabric must have cost a fortune.

8. Kevin was ____________ to loan his friend the money.

9. While John Dillinger robbed the bank his gang created a loud ________ out in the street.

10. There was a great ____________ of cheap goods on the market after the war.

Questions

1. What is the setting at the beginning of Chapter One?

2. Investigate: Using resources in your school library or the Internet, find two interesting facts about the city of New Orleans during the time this book took place (1840).

3. Describe how both Jessie and his mother earned money.

   Jessie:

   His Mother:

4. What was your impression of Aunt Agatha? Why did you form this impression of her?
5. Why did Jessie decide to take the long way home from Aunt Agatha's?

6. As Jessie is being kidnapped what clue are we given as to the reason for this action?

7. At first Jessie thought the men were ___________.

8. What did one of the men say that filled Jessie with despair?

9. Jessie discovers that he has actually met one of the men before. Describe the circumstances in which this happened.

Good to Know – The Cottonmouth

Jessie is terrified of being bitten by a cottonmouth as they make their way through some swampy ground. The cottonmouth (or water moccasin) is a venomous snake found in the southeastern United States. Adults are large and capable of delivering a painful and potentially fatal bite. When irritated they will stand their ground by coiling their bodies and displaying their fangs. They are usually found in or near water, particularly in slow-moving and shallow lakes. They are the world's only semiaquatic viper.
A. Many authors enjoy using alliteration – a literary device where the author repeats the same sound at the beginning of several words. Here’s one such example: from Chapter One “… three grudgingly given stubs.” Using your imagination, create your own examples of alliteration from the following topics. Each example must contain a minimum of three words.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>The sound of a rattlesnake</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>A soft night breeze</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>Your own example</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

B. Chapter One contains an important literary device called a cliffhanger. A cliffhanger usually occurs at the end of a chapter when the author leaves the reader in suspense. How is this true in Chapter One? Why do you think the author ended the chapter this way?
C. Place the following words from this chapter in alphabetical order.

<table>
<thead>
<tr>
<th>mouths</th>
<th>1.</th>
</tr>
</thead>
<tbody>
<tr>
<td>men</td>
<td>2.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>martial</td>

<td>8.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>musty</td>
<td>9.</td>
</tr>
<tr>
<td>moon</td>
<td>10.</td>
</tr>
</tbody>
</table>

D. Choose ten words from this chapter with two or more syllables. Indicate the syllables by drawing a line between each syllable. Example: some / time.

A. Storyboard

A storyboard is a series of pictures that tell about an important event in a story. A storyboard can tell the story of only one scene – or the entire novel. Complete the storyboard below illustrating the events described in this section of The Slave Dancer. You may wish to practice your drawings on a separate piece of paper.

B. Quintet

Unlike quintuplet (a set of five children born to the same mother at one birth), a quintet is a five-line verse that tells a story. The quintet has a syllable pattern and has the wonderful ability of bringing a visual image to life for the reader.

Here is the structure of the quintet:

A Creative Title

Line 1 – tells when ~ and has 3 syllables
Line 2 – tells where ~ and has 5 syllables
Line 3 – tells what ~ and has 7 syllables
Line 4 – describes activity ~ and has 9 syllables
Line 5 – contains a relevant thought ~ and has 3 syllables

An Example!

Here is an example of a Quintet take from the poem, Jack and Jill.

Jack and Jill

Dinner time,
Up a hill they went,
To fetch a pail of water,
Then Jack and Jill tumbled down the hill,
Poor old Jack.

Now try your hand at writing a quintet which contains some of the important details from the first chapter of this novel.
